Poultry Industry Thrives Through Association

Egg Exchange Began 2400 Case Shipment Yesterday Which Will Continue During Storage Season Growing Demand Met Throughout Year

The standardizing of product and the guarantee of supply as well as quality during all seasons has brought Sonoma eggs to the fore and it has been largely through the Sonoma Egg exchange that success is due and that the outlook for bigger development is so promising. Yesterday the Association began filling an order of 200 cases weekly for storage purposes. The eggs are consigned to a San Francisco firm which last year took only 200 cases for the entire season but upon finding out the superiority of the grade, it arranged for a consignment of 2400 cases this season to be shipped weekly for twelve weeks, the storage period. The price paid and the terms in general are said to be the best secured by any producers in the State.

About twenty five or thirty poultrymen of this Valley are interested in the Egg Exchange and the volume of business done from December 1914 to December 1915 under adverse conditions was in excess of $43,000.

The storage season and the hatching period are now in full blast. As high as 50,000 baby chicks are being hatched by each of the big hatcheries in this vicinity, chicks being shipped as far East as Idaho, Texas and Montana.

Sonoma Valley's poultry business is still in its incipiency but its possibilities are manifold with the recognition of cooperation and the growing interest in a general marketing plan.

BALL PLAYERS ARE ARRIVING

"The Oaks" are steadily making their appearance at Boyes Springs and the grounds are in much better condition than at this time last year Duffy Lewis who departs soon for the East with his wife to train with the Red Sox has been trying out some of the boys on the diamond and thinks they have good material. "Pat" Bohen of Napa twirling fame will be in camp next week to try and qualify for the pitching staff of the "Oaks."

MOTOR DELIVERY OF MAIL RULING

Under a recent ruling making the establishment of motor delivery on rural routes contingent on the wishes of fifty per cent of the patrons of the route to be served, there arises a question whether the rural service authorized by the Post office department will become operative on April first as planned. Post Master Wagnon considers the present route established and will not effect the orders he already has although no official notification of the carrier's appointment has as yet been received.

Ash Wednesday was observed at Trinity Church commencing with a celebration of the Holy Eucharist in the morning and an Even ervice at 7.30 o'clock, Rev. W. T. Holt, the rector, officiating.

Tom Millerick is now the owner of an Overland car. Tom says busting bronchos is easy compared to breaking in the motoring game but he is getting to be a wiz at the wheel just the same. It is rumored that he is going to plant a field to gasoline and bale it this summer so as to have plenty of feed on hand for the animal.

NEW SCHOOL NOW OCCUPIED

Children Proudly Take Possession Last Monday Morning

Monday morning children of Sonoma District took possession of their new quarters in the $30,000 Grammar School building and it was with a feeling of great pride for there could not be a more perfect contrast than exists between the old building which housed so many generations of school children and the present quarters, so comfortable, practical and up-to-date. The children were called in at 9 o'clock by an electric gong and there was an evident feeling of excitement among the boys and girls as they filed up the broad stairway to their new class rooms and took their places at the adjustable steel framed desks, in an environment of which any student might well be proud; the fine large windows arranged for perfect lighting, with artistic cream shades and copper screens, the teachers desks of new and practical pattern, the built in book cases, blackboards of just the shade to be restful to the eye with a frieze of art burlap above, the temperature of the room regulated by the new device in connection with the hot blast furnace heating system, in fact everything for comfort and efficiency.

There are also cloak rooms, teachers rest rooms and the Principal's office, on the main floor.

The basement contains manual training quarters, wet weather recreation room, lavatories of the most sanitary type, and furnace room. All the floors are concrete.

To the west is the magnificient auditorium with its pretty stage and electrical fixtures, excellent seating arrangement; the finish all in creamy tints.

The exits are well planned and the hall an ideal place for lectures, entertainments, musicals and other social affairs now counted a part of modern school curriculum.

The enrollment of the Sonoma Grammar school is about 165 and Principal Jesse Prestwood predicts even greater attendance.

The efficient teaching force Miss Cook, Miss Murphy and Miss Burchard are very enthusiastic over the new surroundings and agree with Mr Prestwood that the work of the school can be brought up to a maximum of excellence with the new facilities which the building affords.

Trustees Dresel, Bill and Thomson are to be commended on the untiring interest manifested during the trying months preceding the completion of the handsome structure which is not only a credit to them but to the entire district.

A. C. Lutgens was the architect and J. H. Ingram the contractor of the building.

FINE DANCE TONIGHT AT GLEN ELLEN

Active and enthusiastic work has been done in preparing for the third grand ball, to be held at Pancrazi's Auditorium this evening. It is assured that this fine hall will be packed with merry-makers. Many novel decorations are planned as surprise to the guests at the big event.

This is the first and only engagement of the Mayo Ragtime Quintette and they promise the same music that made them so popular in Oakland. The usual "Moonlight Two Steps" will be one of the popular features.

The auto bus will leave Union Hotel at 8:30

Algernon Crofton has been substituted as attorney in place of J. P. Sweeney in the suit brought by J. G. Marcy against the administratrix of the Granice estate J. W. Ford represents the plaintiff. The case will be heard by Judge Small on the 15th of this month.

AUTO SALES ARE BRISK

Sonoma is having a boom in the automobile business and the local garages report many sales and as many more prospects. The local firm of Leiser & McDevitt made a record sale Tuesday. Joe Keechler foreman of the Jones ranch purchased a Hudson Super Six, seven passenger touring car and a four cylinder Dodge roadster. A Dodge touring car was sold to A. Chevalier for April delivery and a Hudson 33 to Jack Valente of the Palm bar. A. Van Gundy purchased a Studebaker from the same firm on Wednesday.

The local agent for the Overland cars, James Maffei, received a car load of handsome models from the factory Tuesday. The shipment consisted of four touring cars which are attracting much attention at the N. & M. where they are now being displayed.

Busby and Coates sold an auto truck to A. Pera last week, and have other prospects for the dependable Fords.

Clewe, the Maxwell agent has many inquiries for the $745 worth of class and value which are embodied in the Maxwell car and he expects to have an exceptional brisk season.

J. R. Nelligan of Santa Rosa reports many sales of the Buick model illustrated in these columns and also of the Chevrolet.

Prohibition is Piracy

(FROM THE NORTHERN CROWN, ANNA MORRISON REED, EDITOR).

When goodness becomes a vocation, and you preach it for pay the public have a right to question the sincerity of your motive, and the soundess of your doctrine. Therefore, sane people will hesitate, before they make a new law that creates new crime.

The "professionally good" have the habit of believing—or professing to believe—evil of all who differ with them. Yet for the sake of their vocation it is well that some men are evil, otherwise it would be lost.

The dictonary tells us that "Piracy" relates, in its strict sense, to robbery upon the high seas. But as prohibition will unjustly plunder the man of means, and make the poor one "walk the plank" of poverty we think it is applicable to the case.

Highway robbery is a tamer method than the drastic measures of prohibition, to deprive people of property honestly acquired under the legal sanction of this government, and the working man of the labor that brings his daily bread.

Truth is not the weapon of the "professional reformer." And there is no more undesirable citizen, than the agitator who lies in the interest of his propoganda.

It has been said by a brilliant and profound writer that "even the Devils, do not tell lies to one another." For truth is necessary to all Societies, nor can the Society of even Hell, subsist without it."

The whole world is, at this time undergoing an agitation and attempted reform, at the hands of "professed moralists," who do not hesitate at dishonesty, and misrepresentation. Hydra-headed they present the front, of much modern reform, with a dastardly attack upon sound and time-honored customs and conditions. For instance—The Professional Peace Propogandists, inform us that the Armament Trust is behind the movement to increase the size of our Navy, and provide more coast defenses.

* * *

Fanatics have proclaimed brazenly, that the liquor business is an "outlawed and disreputable business," in the face of the fact, that the Supreme Court of the United States, has pronounced it a "lawful business."

It is not a disreputable business, except when carried on in a disreputable way, by disreputable people. There are disreputable and unprincipled people in every business, from banking and real estate, to the itinerant peddler on the road.

How does the average liquor dealer compare with the usurer? And until very recently banks practiced usury, with their ten per cent interest, compounded every thirty days.

Under this unjust practice, I have seen the old and ignorant, and helpless children, robbed in cold blood.

I think in such a comparison of cases, the liquor dealer scores, for he, at least, gives his patrons, something to deaden the pain, when he separates them from their money.

If you believe in personal liberty and equal justice, be fair and without prejudice, in considering the issue now before the people of California, If man is a responsible being, capable of sanely regulating his daily life, he needs no drastic legislation to insure sobriety and decency. If he is not, he needs an asylum and a keeper. Man is entitled to satisfaction and comfort, as well as mere existence. All these things has the Great Creator provided. Only men, with narrow, and warped and puritanical minds, would shut us away from the opulence of God. We do not need Prohibition in California, where it would be a public calamity.

Clean-cut Ropublicans have been chosen by Republicans to represent California at the National Convention and the choice should appeal to all loyal members of the Grand Old Party and to the many others who have tired of tentative reformers and their expensive inconsistencies.

Reports come from Oakdale to the effect that the municipal water plant continues to be a most profitable asset to that city. It is a small town, but the sale of water gives the town a good profit after paying all expenses, and the assertion is made that the people are furnished water as cheaply as any other town in the state.

Mrs. Ruth Poppe Kruger of San Francisco spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Julius Poppe.

Fetters Springs now has an attractive ice cream annex to the theatre which will be much appreciated by the patrons, particularly the dancers.

Mrs. Fred Duhring entertained the new socal club last Thursday. Among her guests were Mrs. Bigelow, Misses Kenyon, Mrs. Robert Hill, Mrs. Stofen and Miss Stofen.

CITY MANAGER PLAN COMMENDED

There has been some comment relative to San Rafael's experiments with a City Manager, and for this reason the Journal has made some investigations and, gathered some facts showing what he is doing and some of the results of his labor.

The city council about a year ago, employed F. J. Boland, a civil engineer and architect, to fill the position of City Manager, His employment was somewhat in the nature of an experiment. He was a stranger but came with good recommendations and he has proven himself to be a faithful and efficient officer and has won the confidence of the Councilmen. His salary was at first fixed at $150 per month and was later increased to $200, with the understanding that in his work he use his own automobile for duty, and it might be well to state that he makes good use of the machine. During the recent stormy weather he drove his machine as high as 100 miles in one day, looking after city matters, and answering calls when notified that anything was going wrong in any part of the city.

As a result the city's business is now conducted on a business basis and if any citizen has a complaint or suggestion to offer all that is necessary to do is to notify the City Manager and it will receive attention and investigation. Heretofore it was necessary to see one or more of the city officials and get action on the part of a majority of the council before any matter could be given proper attention. Now the City Manager takes hold of the proposition at once, and sees that everything is put in order without waiting on action of the Council.

From our observations we do not hestitate to say that the business of our city was never before so efficiently and so promptly looked after as it is now. It is not now necessary to get the consent of three councilmen before having a minor city matter attended to. The City Manager has power to look after it without waiting, or pulling political strings to have every day details looked after. The City Manager has control over all city employees (except elective officers) and can suspend any of them or employ any extra help needed. He acts as purchasing agent for the city, and all supplies must be purchased through him and it is his business to see that the price is right.

The salary of $200 per month which the city pays the manager has not proved to be an expense as he is able to save the amount in other expenditures. He does the work of the city engineer and in this way saves a cost of from $1000 to $1500 per year; he does the building inspection and saves the city from $300 to $500 per year; he does the work of Superintendent of streets and saves a salary of $300; and he saves the architect's fees which at times is a material sum; he saves the cost of inspectors on city work and in many other ways saves money for the city.

The city councilmen, who receive a salary of nothing per year are relieved of many burdens and responsibilities by the having of a manager, and this is no small matter.

San Rafael is one of 56 cities in the United States that has a City Manager, and from the best information we have been able to gather every one of them is reaping good results, One of the most notable examples is in the city of Dayton, Ohio, where wonderfully good results have been had. The careful estimate is to the effect that the City Manager for San Rafael will not cost the city a cent when the end of the year has been reached. In fact it is believed that many dollars will be saved and the city will have had a most efficient government. It is difficult for the average citizen to realize the facts but those who are in close touch with the city's affairs realize the good work being done.

For the first time in the city's history the city has a budget of expenses, which has been prepared and is being adhered to, and at the end of the year the city will be able to show where the money has gone, and what will be needed during the coming year.

The Journal has not consulted the Manager relative to what we have said and it is not with any feeling of friendship that we have written these statements. We have done it as a matter of information for our citizens and as a matter of public policy, feeling that the people should be informed of the facts.

JOURNALISM IN CALIFORNIA

"Journalism in California," by John P. Young, was first published in The San Francisco Chronicle January 16, 1915, to signalize the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the paper by Charles and M. H. de Young, the present proprietor. Its publication attracted considerable attention at the time, especially in educational circles, and its issuance in book form is mainly due to the fact that the heads of colleges of journalism were urgent in their request that it be put into convenient shape for the use of students.

It is a highly interesting publication and will be a welcome addition to the libraries of all interested in the absorbing topic.

Among the delightful affairs planned for the new auditorium at the Grammar School is a childrens cantata "The Windmills of Holland" which will probably be given at the closing of the Spring term The children gathered in their handsome assembly hall yesterday and sang as if they enjoyed it immensely.

The Adventists at their annual conference in Mountain View protested against the passage of a Sunday law in California, believing that one religious law will open the way for others, more stringent, and that the only safe course is to leave such questions as Sabbath observance for the individual conscience to settle, rather than to unite the church and the state by the passing of religious legislation.

STATE HOME HAS NEW DEPARTMENT

Dr. William J. Dawson, head of the Sonoma State Home, with the consent of the board of managers, has appointed Dr. George Ordahl of Stanford University as educational director and sociologist of the home. Dr. Ordahl at Stanford is connected with the Buckel Foundation and comes very highly recommended. He will have complete charge of the educational work at the home, which now has 1100 inmates with a large waiting list.

There is a broad field for study among the different degrees of mentality in the institution and the department should prove a valuable addition to science besides being of inestimable value to the inmates themselves.

The work is right in line with Dr. Dawson's ever broadening ideas for the betterment and utility of the Home and is a credit to the Directors who concurred in the appointment.

CAR OVERTURNS; NOBODY HURT

On Monday afternoon a new Ford touring car, occupied by four men, names unknown, was overturned on the San Rafael road just below the home of James Walls. The driver was evidently a novice and the car a new one of which delivery had just been made.

The car became unmanageable and scraped the guard fence on the new highway, then left the road and went into the ditch and was overturned. It left much paint on the whitewashed guard fence.

James Walls went to the assistance of the men and the car was righted and left for the north under its own power and soon after it got started a repetition of the accident was narrowly averted. The men went north. Police Chief Flohr saw the mishap from a distance. Petaluma Argus.

ESTATE OF CHELINI BENEFICIARY

The late Maria Warren or Maria Silva as she was best known here, an employee of G. Chelini, deceased, who bequeathed her $1000 also had $1010 on deposit in the Sonoma Valley Bank and $1,123 66 in the Hibernia Bank of San Francisco. Public Administrator Philips has been granted letters of administration in her estate.

On Sunday next, March 12th, the morning and evening services at the Congregational Church will be conducted by Rev. Leland D. Rathbone. At the close of the morning service an important meeting of the Board of directors, members and friends of the church will be held.

STATE HIGHWAY PROGRESS

Assistant Engineer Clark of the State Highway Commission Sacramento came up to Reclamation Wednesday morning to look over the survey this side of the new draw bridge, preliminary work on which is now being carried on by the Healy-Tibbets Construction Company who have their construction barges anchored at Black Point on the south side of Petaluma Creek.

Mr. Clark with his blue prints and his specifications went over the ground thoroughly and found his work difficult on account of the quantity of water still standing in that vicinity from the recent heavy rains.

He expressed some doubt as to the progress of actual construction work by the State pending the call for a second bond issue which is to be put before the people by the Johnson administration. It appears that the plan calling for more millions is being vigorously opposed by many counties throughout the State who point out that highway can be built under supervisoral control at a saving of fifty per cent on overhead charge. The State Highway Commission has expended practically twelve per cent on overhead charge while six per cent is the average expended by counties on the same type of work. In other words the Johnson administration has been paying out too much for preliminary surveys, inspections and red tape—money which could have been put into actual construction work. The result is that funds are getting very short and highway building will soon be tied up pending an appeal for more funds.

The Black Point Cut-off work is proceeding as a result of the generous response of Sonoma, Marin and Napa counties who put up their promised appropriations on the first of the year, this county being one to hold the Commission strictly to account in the matter of expenditure. District Attorney Clarence Lea has the matter well in hand and is seeing to it that Sonoma County's money is being spent in accordance with the understanding exacted from the Commissioners.

ALLEGROS DANCE ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT

The Allegro Club has perfected plans for a grand ball on the night of March 17th and a fine time is promised all who attend. The boys have demonstrated that they know how to do things right and their initial party was one of the social successes of the season.

The Allegro orchestra of nine pieces which was a feature of the last dance will play and every lad should be there with his colleen.

Hearing is Continued

A stipulation continuing the hearing of the action of the City of Sonoma, a municipal corporation, Mary Weyl and Enrico Eraldi against the Sonoma Valley Water, Light and Power Company, a corporation, was filed with County Clerk Wm. W. Felt, Jr., Monday. The hearing was continued from Tuesday, March 7 to May 3rd.

Mrs. Julius Focketti, Jr., motored to Santa Rosa last Monday.

L. B. Lawson, specialist of the Lawson-Rinner Optical Co., will be at the Union Hotel on Thursday, March 16th.

Mrs. N. J. Anderson of Los Angeles is in Sonoma arranging for a class in physical culture. Mrs. Anderson comes highly recommended in the art of grace and good health and is a woman of culture and sympathetic understanding which makes her the ideal teacher.

Secretary of Womans Club's Clever Report

Listen dear ladies and you shall hear
Of this twelvemonth's events in the Club's career,
(In the year 1900 plus ten and five)
And all of us glad to be alive
To remember that Exposition year.

Dame Stofen consented to lead our band
If we would lend her a helping hand
To do some good—to grow more wise,
And make the Club House materialize
So she said, "Come ladies, let's make the fund grow."
Three card parties followed, successful I trow,
With fun for the players and gold for our sack,
And all who attended were sure to come back.
And then in the summer your old clothes you brought
And rummaged your garrets for bonnets you tho't
Might still be of use, and some bric-a-brac too
That you had decided was useless to you
And most of it sold—with Dame Cowgills good aid,
Of the rest a donation to Lytton was made.
Another donation has monthly been made
To help the great work of the Travellers Aid
(Which saves guideless girls from the horrible fate
Which often secures them, if guarded too late.)

And meantime our members both up and down
Wandered and watched with eager ear
To do some good for Sonoma town
Till nothing be left imperfect here—
Thru our member's efforts Memorial Day
Was observed by the churches in suitable way
And now at the depot what joy fills our cup,
We requested politely that lights be put up---
And besides a young man who studied the art
Of laying out parks, came and offered his part
In improving our Plaza, to make it a gem
For the valley's adornment in our fair diadem.
City Fathers have helped us—the plans are all laid
The Plaza a permanent lasting joy will be made.

It was June by the calendar
Then we held the pleasant garden fete
At the Duhring home, and no bolt nor bar
Was fast, but all enjoyed 'til late
The "Ring a Duck" and archery
Beneath the merry greenwood tree,
And the gypsy gathered many a bit
Of silver for her ready wit
And dollars chinked and grew so fast
That a hundred or more was the score at last.
It was New Year's Eve by the clock
When our capable Mrs. Burlingame
With assistants known to you by name
Served the Band Boys supper, by which our stock
Was swelled by a $60 block.
You know the rest from the reports you have seen—
Of executive meetings, just two there have been—
Of regular, eighteen, four dropped by the way
Thru lack of a quorum of ladies that day;
The average attendance for business, thirteen,
For tea and a wafer some ten more, I ween.
An item to note, to our membership list
Some seven were added, and one whom we've missed
Has been made Honorary—we're sure that her heart
Is here to encourage, tho' she dwell apart.

So thru the year has the work progressed,
With aim to accomplish what is best,
So thru the year have speakers come
From the University by the Bay
To strengthen our minds and cheer our way—
Dr. Morgan, Miss Clarke, with helps for the home,
Professor Herns on sanitation, malarial ills,
Professor Stevens, the gardener, Miss Andrews from Mills
Whose points on the pageant we hope soon to apply,
While others, home speakers, brought us often a treat
And filled social meetings with pleasure replete.
